PROCTOR A CANDIDATE

His Platform as Announced Last Week in the State Papers

Redfield Proctor announced his candidacy for the Republican nomination for governor, April 17 as follows: "I desire to announce my candidacy for the Republican nomination for governor at the primary election next September, and to state my position on certain matters.

"I believe that, in recent years, the national government has taken upon itself duties which belong to the states and the states have taken over duties which belong to the towns. In these ways the work of government has become less of the people—tending to pass out of the direct control of those who pay for it and the cost has increased rapidly and alarmingly. This increase should be stopped and expenses reduced, not arbitrarily, however, but wisely, with due regard to what is essential for our growth and prosperity.

"I believe that some state activities can be consolidated, hereby reducing expenses without serious loss in efficiency and I favor such reductions of state taxes as may be consistent with efficient government and the needs of the people.

"Our farm land will be developed and our young men and women will seek homes on the land, only as the opportunity is there offered to make a comfortable living. The state should make available educational facilities in order that the best scientific knowledge may be brought to bear upon the problems of the farm. It should help in protecting plants and animals from injurious diseases. It should continue to assist in the organization of cooperative associations for the grading, standardizing and efficient marketing of agricultural products. Timber production should be encouraged on land unsuited to cultivation.

"Good schools are the great guaranty that our citizens of the future will be competent to deal with their problems. We must maintain the schools at the highest possible standard, guarding against over-organization and the expenditure of too much money on non-essentials. It is the fundamentals that count. The schools are for our children, not our children for the schools.

"The care of the public health and of our defectives and delinquents should be continued on sensible and proven lines.

"New methods of travel have changed our highways from country roads to commercial thoroughfares bearing a heavy and increasing traffic. The long established policy of providing good foundations, adequate drainage and the elimination of bad grades and dangerous curves should not be sacrificed for large expenditures on short stretches of hard paving. I am not, at this time, in favor of bonding the state for so-called permanent highways.

"I believe that we should be ever mindful of the admonition in our Constitution that frequent recurrence to fundamental principles and a firm adherence to justice, moderation, temperance, industry and frugality are absolutely necessary to preserve the blessings of liberty and keep our government free. At the present one of the great needs of the state is frugality—the careful management and economical use of its resources. "Service for the state is most honorable. I make my pledge to the men and women of Vermont that if by their votes I am permitted to serve as governor, I will perform that service to the best of my ability, without fear or favor of any man.

"REDFIELD PROCTOR."

Sketch of the Candidate

Redfield Proctor was born in Proctor, Vt., April 13, 1879, the son of Redfield and Emily J. (Dutton) Proctor. He attended school at the public schools of Proctor, the Friends' School in Washington, D. C., and graduated from the Massachusetts Institute of Technology in the class of 1902 as a mechanical engineer.

Following his graduation he became connected with the Vermont Marble Company as assistant superintendent, was elected a director and is now vice-president. He is president and a director of the Proctor Trust Company.

Mr. Proctor served as selectman of the town of Proctor from 1909 to 1912, was trustee of the village of Proctor from 1907 to 1910 and was president of the village in 1912. He represented his town in the general assembly of the state during the session of 1912, serving as chairman of the general committee and as a member of the committee on ways and means and the committee on state schools. He was re-elected as representative to the general assembly of 1915, in which session he served as chairman of the committee on appropriations, chairman of the committee on rules and as member of the committee on banks. He was elected a senator from Rutland county to the session of 1917, serving in the senate as chairman of the committee on finance and as a member of the committees on state and court expenses, banking and insurance and appropriations.

In March, 1917, he was chosen chairman of Vermont Chapter of the American Red Cross, taking an active part in the organization of the Red Cross work in the state in its early participation in the work of the war. He resigned in August, 1917 to enlist in the military service as captain of engineers, serving until January 11, 1919.

In 1920 he was elected a delegate from Vermont to the Republican National Convention at Chicago.

He is a member of the American Legion and was state treasurer of that organization in 1919-1920 and commander of Proctor Post No. 6 in 1921. He is a member of the Sons of the American Revolution, the Vermont Commandery of the Loyal Legion, the American Society of Mechanical Engineers and the Society of Engineers.

"I decided to bake two cakes at the same time, using Royal Baking Powder in one, and another powder in the other. The cake made with Royal was so appetizing and delicious, so finely grained and wholesome that in comparison, the other cake was not a cake."

Boston Market Report

Boston Wholesale Market Review For Week Ending April 22.

Dairy and Poultry Products

The continued scarcity of fresh butter under active demand has held the market firm and caused prices to advance to 39 cents. Many users of storage butter have turned, at least partially, to fresh because of the difficulty of securing storage of desirable quality. Available supplies of fresh have been cleaned up daily with some buyers running short the first of week. Toward the close northern butter was offered quite freely at 38-39 cents with western goods cleaning up readily at about the same levels. Small lots storage butter have been active 33-36 cents. Movement of carlots not active because of scarcity of quality some moved 34-35 cents. Because of lower New York and Wisconsin in primary markets, fresh cheese has ruled weak under light demand. Although supplies are not heavy dealers are free sellers at concessions. Twins can be purchased 18½-19 cents, dairies 19-19½ cents. Cured cheese has ruled about the same. Quality is in demand at full prices, 24-25 cents. Egg market has not been active during the week but dealers have held quite firmly to their asking prices. Current arrivals of firsts have generally moved at 26½-27 cents with quality bringing premium in many cases. Southern eggs mostly at 25-25½ cents. Dirties ranged 23-24 cents, trades 23¼-24 cents. Storage packed eggs also not active, firsts most 28½-29 cents. No interest in the finer grades. Near by henneries have been firm but starting to accumulate, moved from 30-33 cents. Live poultry is in light supply but is also limited. Chickens ranged 23-25 cents; fowls 32-34 cents. Offerings of fresh killed light, fowls 32-36 cents; chickens 24-29 cents. Frozen poultry slow, fowls 30-32 cents. Maple syrup and sugar in more liberal supply with demand very slow. Syrup per gallon 1.50-1.65; sugar 21-26 cents.

Receipts on all classes were generally light. Bulls were steady with medium selling at 7.00-8.00 and good 8.00-9.00 per 100 lbs. Throughout the week veal continued barely steady.
